Captain's Log

(27 April 2014)

I have finally gotten back to work and with that I am out of the house again. Yea!!! It is also like I saved up everything to do at the same time. April will have been the busiest travel month in years.

The first weekend free of the house was one with several get-togethers and the very next weekend after that was the Region 12 Summit. Speaking of Summit, what a great weekend in Tulsa, Oklahoma!

got to see a lot of old Fleet friends, and spent time hanging with Marion, Wayne and Rolando. Tony rode along but he got very sick and spent the weekend in the room. Not a good Summit for him but at the end of the weekend he still said he had a good time. I also spent some time sharing a table with Jim Herring and

SUMMIT 2014

Summit was a huge success (see the Captain's Log) but there was a small technical glitch that we got to assist with. As you all know, I get a kick out of that... It appears that the hotel did not set up the audio/video overhead projector so we stepped in and paid to get that going. No, I did not do the work but I still got my feet wet.

March 2014

I guess I will start looking for a new job soon. My store with Macys at Jamestown Mall is closing. I will use the free time to get our home organized and to get things ready in case we have to move for my new job. That is possible since Eddie is retiring soon from his job and I am free to "move about the country." There is not much else for me to report since I have been very busy at work.

getting caught up. He was only up for Saturday but we had a good time.

We spent an hour of the CO/XO's meeting discussing Future Summit's Past and voted to have next year's Summit bids close on June 1st. Next year, They will start the process earlier and announce the next year's Summit during the General Session. Jim Herring and I worked together to obtain this change. Jim has volunteered to put a bid together for next year in Kansas City. I hope he gets it going as that is an easy drive for the Horizon to make. I also like spending time in Kansas City. It is a fun time.

As you can see from the photo, Jeff Higdon was reduced to a screen on an iPhone. Wow! He was a piece of Tech or "POT." (Smile)

The USS Horizon won a few awards: We got a 12th Fleet 'E' Gold Award for perfect reporting, and a 12th Fleet Commander's Citation for outstanding performance in 2013. I, as your commanding officer received "Commanding Officer of the Year."

We spent some time out on the town as there was a large shopping area and mall at the next exit on the highway. Lunch on Saturday was at Fish Daddy's Grill House. It was the best Cajun ever. We also fit a movie in on Saturday afternoon as we have for several years now.

Saturday Evening, we had the Closing Ceremonies as a part of the Banquet. Most of the attention went to the Old Series bridge and photos and a "Happy Video." What do you think of the photo that Tony and I took? End Log

GAMING APPS: Star Wars: Assault Team

Anyone up for gaming online? I have found a Star Wars App that is available on both the iPhone and Google Play and I would guess other applications created by Disney. In this app you can assemble your own strike team and compete with others through the net. Care to join me? End Log
