Captain's Log

20147.02
(2 July 2014)

Well it happened. It really did. No one expected it to happen and even the perp said it wouldn't happen. So what happened.... I'm not going to tell you. Actually I will tell you. Edward IV had a son and named the son, Edward V. He's got an Edward chin dimple and may have the smoky blue eye package as well. More details as they become available. This model does have the high end full wail siren attached as I've experienced it firsthand.

I am writing this month's article from Tacoma Washington. I have a very nice accommodation with a wonderful downtown location very close to Edward's house and his place of employment. It was a very quiet month for our chapter as far as activities but an active one for me.

I joined MySha here on the west coast and we spent several days enjoying the latest family member and seeing the sights. We went to

Flight Control Log

June 30, 2014

As you can probably tell from the article that the CO wrote, I did not make it to Tacoma. I will have to make the trip at a later date. As I change jobs in order to bring home the bacon for my family, I had to take a cut in vacation hours. I will go out there next year.

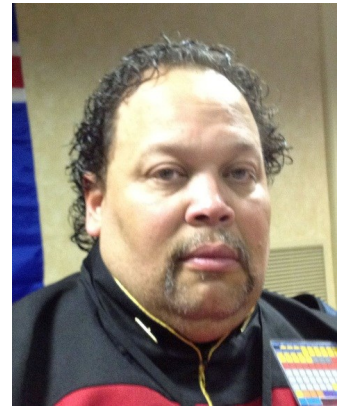

I have been looking into updates for our calendar and working with the CO to come up with an exciting line up. I hope to get it published soon. Please let us know if the current level of activities are good and if there is anything we can do to make the variety better.

EMAIL PROBLEMS CONTINUE

I have various list mail coming to me and it appears that the lists quit when my membership expired. I had a few delays due to applying for the service with the wrong address. Yes, you must use the actual address located at the SFI website. I have finally subscribed to the service and hope to be back in receipt of information again soon.

FACEBOOK

I wish they would outlaw the game: Candy Crush Saga. If you have a Facebook account you will understand.

STAR WARS MUSEUM

George Lucas has chosen the city of Chicago to locate the interactive Star Wars Museum. It will be located on Lake Michigan in the Museum district on the near south side. This is a wonderful location and has several other great museums to help it draw sightseers. It will be in near the Science Museum and Shedd Aquarium. This site beat out one in San Francisco which refuse to allow the museum in the Presidio area.

APPS

Exoplanet: This free app lists all exoplanets which have their own page of info and data,

The Night Sky (0.99): This app displays the night sky and is very similar to Sky Safari. Both show above and below the horizon and will rotate as you do placing the current sky in front of you. Constellations are shown. It also has a database and point information.

End Log

Pike's Market and bought a lot of fish and had it immediately shipped to St. Louis. We even took the baby on his first trip to the woods. I hope you enjoy the photos as I've included a few. That was the highlight of the period up to July 2nd of this cycle.
